Dear Media Partners,

I would like to inform you of the new security procedures based on our Live Council of Ministers (CoM) Press Briefing Rules & Procedures Policy.

The members of the press who are authorized to attend our CoM Press Briefings will have to present the new media pass at the reception upon entering the government building. The member of the press will then receive a color-coded plastic chip.

Every Wednesday the member of the press will receive another color at the reception. This color will be determined by DCOMM and given through to Executive Protection Unit hereafter referred to as “EPU”.

This colored chip will then be presented to the members of EPU that are at the entrance of the meeting room. Once it is verified, the member of the press will be asked to hand it over and the press member will be scanned with a walk-through metal detector or a handheld wand prior to being allowed to enter the press briefing room.

If the press member is in the possession of a bag, they will be asked to open the bag and a quick visual scan will be done of its contents.

Those refusing to comply will be denied entry.

No member of the press will be allowed to attend after 10 a.m.

In closing, thanking you in advance for your attention and cooperation.

Hoping to have informed you sufficiently.

Sincerely,

Maurice Lake - Department Head

MEDIA ACCREDITATION POLICY 2022
Introduction

The Ministry of General Affairs requires media personnel attending government functions, and/or activities during the course of their employment to be officially accredited by the Department of Communication (DCOMM).

As accreditation and certification are necessary pillars in the establishment of a culture of quality – sustained and maintained by defining objectives, developing capacity to achieve them, and evaluating whether they are achieved. Once this is established, accreditation will be the gatekeeper for assuring that qualitative journalistic reporting is the threshold.

As such, DCOMM -aims to ensure that accreditation is solely granted to working journalists, media professionals, and/ or technical support staff members representing an established media organization.

Media access is a privilege not to be abused, and DCOMM reserves the right to deny or withdraw accreditation of a journalist who abuses the privileges so extended, or put the accreditation to improper use, or act in a way not consistent with the principles of DCOMM. Accreditation and Badges are non-transferable and only valid on Sint Maarten.

DCOMM will review the guidelines once a year, or as needed, to review the policy, which can be revised and should be applied based on a spirit of mutual cooperation and respect for the two simultaneous requirements of security and access. Wider consultations with other parties may be held as needed.

Thank you for working with DCOMM in creating a safe and professional environment where everyone is treated with respect.

CRITERIA FOR MEDIA ACCREDITATION

DCOMM defines “established media” as:

Having an existing reputation within the local, national, or international community for news coverage including critical reviews, editorials, commentary, etc. – using primarily accredited journalists who are recognized as such by their peers and the public.

News outlets, Internet news sites that employ journalists and freelancers to complete their mission to report the news.

A photographer who qualifies for a photographer pass is someone who:

- Is recognized as such by peers.
- Has a history of photographing news stories and events for established media.
- Has been assigned by his/her employer to photograph events.
- Is an established freelance photographer approved by the Media Director.
An accredited journalist who qualifies for a media pass is someone who:

- Has received specialized training in the field (not necessarily in academic institutions).
- Is recognized as such by peers (publishers, assignment editors and journalists working in the same profession or is a member of a recognized association).
- Has a history of reporting for established media.
- Has been assigned by his/her employer to cover events.
- Is an established freelance reporter

Persons to be Considered for Accreditation:

- Members of Established “Local” media houses.
- Members of Established “International” (non – national) media houses. International journalists will have to satisfy all requirements imposed by this policy, except for providing local validation credentials. International journalists will be required to provide proof of his/her valid credentials for accreditation from his/her respective country of origin and/or residency immediately prior to his /her request for a media pass.
- An individual holding a letter of assignment on the official letterhead of a media organization signed by the publisher/assignment editor or bureau chief, specifying the name and functional title of the journalist, and the period for which accreditation is being sought.

Major media outlets should limit their accreditation request to a maximum of four individual media passes, while requests from smaller media outlets should be limited to two passes. Consideration may be given for additional requests; however, these cannot be guaranteed.

Persons not eligible for Accreditation:

- Non-journalists, lobbyists, consultants and/or others with an ancillary activity which, in the opinion of the Department of Communication, are incompatible with permanent accreditation as a journalist.
- An applicant may not, for example, be (jointly) employed by, or work on the instructions or under the direction of, a political group, political party or work for a political group, party or movement.
- Former Parliamentarians and/or Ministers who have not satisfied all other requirements imposed by this policy and have been elected to the House of Parliament and/or appointed to Government for the last five (5) years immediately prior to his /her request for a media pass shall not be eligible for accreditation.
- Civil servants are not allowed in Press Briefings as independent reporters or photographers. This is a conflict of interest.
Valid Credentials for Accreditation:

- Valid police record
- Recent picture
- Valid Chamber of Commerce registration
- Valid registration form
- Valid proof of residency
- Valid National Identification
